

CLINKTOWN'S RENAISSANCE.

THE TROUBLES AT RIO.

HILL ITS NEW BIRTH RESULT IN A CHANGE OF NAME?

WHAT IT IS CALLED. Willowmore or Clinktown? What's the Matter with Clinktown? Willowmore is too suggestive of Malaria—Nineteen. Would Offset Babylon—Mongolians, Quenaville, Rosario, and Sea View. All names also proposed.

Retracing the sinuous course of Rockaway Channel from the dark and deep blue ocean to the placid swallows and mud flats which give it birth, the wasp-like red and the venturesome found their way to a place which is known to the world as Clinktown. Of course, there are other methods of reaching this spot, but the seas and flowers, after all, take the shortest cut. Now, in Clinktown there are Men and Thought and Ideas, and, as the world's history shows, where these elements abide there is sure to come either to be a Renaissance, or to be a Clinktown.

Thought and Ideas, as Carlyle would have said, are seeking a focus upon which to concentrate their essence. At this stage of the game, it is manifestly proper that all these things should be recorded, and therefore Fort Villejaignon insists on maintaining an armed neutrality. Fort Santa Cruz, on the eastern side of the entrance, near Netherley, is said to be in danger of running short of supplies. President Peixoto seems to have the support of Congress and of the army.

With the restrictions put upon telegraphic communication, it is difficult to state the exact condition of affairs at the capital, independently of the fact that any hour may bring a great change. But at this time it seems clear that the bombardments of the forts and other points have been productive of greater loss than was at first admitted, and that the revolt had gained rather than lost strength, up to the last accounts.

The history of Brazil during the last four years has been one of constant political disturbance. The abolition of slavery made a very great change in the industrial condition of the empire, and when it was accomplished the finances were in such a state as to create great anxiety. For a long time the possibility of making Brazil a republic had been contemplated, and even Dom Pedro had regarded it with anxiety, and was to have intimated that when the time came he would not be a party to it. However, the actual mode in which the republic was proclaimed, Gen. Fonseca, who commanded the army, was a prominent member of the government, and supported his troops in their demand for higher pay.

Then the dumb waltz rattled its way up through the shaft. "Well, here's to the little one," said the president. "Mark my words, we are clearly destined to success." Now, they kept changing these signs and improving them in a most wonderful way. Thought and Ideas grew in size, while the rest of the world, which had so steadily been growing reached a climax and burst out in a burning question. This was fostered by a meeting of the two great trusts in the city, and it was decided to change the name of the hamlet from Clinktown to East Rockaway. Although this was a great step in the direction of progress, it has received the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself. One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

One morning the inhabitants of Clinktown, to their great consternation, beheld a new sign above his doors:

CLINKTOWN
PAZAO DO TOBACCO &
CIGARS AND CHAMPS
A. MUZZINS, etc.

So many years had this sign been exposed to the Clinktown breezes that its letters had long begun to fade and its edges to crumble and decay. Upon many and many a sunny afternoon, when the sun shone brightly, and the breezes blew gently, the sign was seen to be fading, and it was said that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which

read: THE CLINKTOWN EMPORIUM,
IMPORTED & DOMESTIC CIGARS
ETC., ETC.

There was deep amazement in Clinktown and Muzzins, when he received that his sign had lost the seeds of envy in many hearts. The other stockholders not only criticised it severely, but soon even went to far greater lengths, and it seemed that Thought had died, when, without warning, manifested itself.

It began with Muzzins's sign. Muzzins had a sign over the entrance to his store, which